Myrtil Coblentz Says Roads in That State Are Finest in the World.

One of the greatest trips in the country is to Yosemite National park, in California," said Myrtil Coblenta, who has just returned with Mrs. Coblents from a tour of California.

"The view from Inspiration Point, as one enters the valley of the park, is the greatest I over saw. Much of the Caliin Alsace and Lorraine, but Yosemite park is prettier than any scenery that I know of in Europe.

"California roads are the finest in the world, although some of the mountain roads can be improved. European mountain roads are more substantially built than the American mountain roads, but we will come to that later.

"As an example of the condition of the California roads, I ran from Freeno to Los Angelés—16: miles—in less than a day. One stretch of 31 miles, near Hakerstield, is straight as an arrow for the entire distance, and it is built across a stretch of sand. It is as fine a place of road as any street in El Paco.

"The rough are so fine that one simply can't keep from specifing out there in California. When I was going into Los Angeles from Sian Diogo a motor-cop overtook me and said. We allow you to go in miles an hour here, but not 85; you will have to yay a $10 fine." I told kilm it was worth the price, and paid it.

A card from Ocean Park mays that he made the trip through from El Paso in his Yelle in five duys, including half a day spent at Tureno. He left El Paso hast Wednesday and reached Ocean Park on Sanday Mr. Rand went through by way of Bowle and Turken, then through Phosenia and Parker, but he says the Palo Yerds route is shortest and Pest.
